Jury Finds Geffrard Guilty of Stabbing Oakland St. Woman

After deliberating more than 14 hours over three days, a Mercer County Superior Court jury Thursday afternoon found Gerald Geffrard, 22, guilty of breaking into the Oakland Street apartment of Anne Woods on June 7, 1990 and stabbing her twice.

A native of Haiti who came to this country seven years ago, Geffrard was found guilty of all three charges of aggravated assault, robbery and possession of a weapon for unlawful purposes. Presently being held without bail until sentencing by Judge Charles

Company Planning Factory Outlets at Forrestal; Will Also Determine Future of Hulfish North

A Piscataway-based company, hired by the Bank of New York, now holds in its hands the future of two major area developments: Princeton Forrestal Village and the Hulfish North section of Palmer Square.

On Friday, The Sammis Company announced plans to convert Forrestal Village — which opened in 1987 as a collection of upscale shops — into a premium-quality factory outlet center. Early this year, the Bank of New York foreclosed on Forrestal Village, removing ownership from Developer Scott Toombs of New Canaan, Conn.

Last week, the Bank of New York hired Sammis to manage Hulfish North. In April, the bank filed to foreclose on this section of Palmer Square — the final, and still incomplete, piece in the Collins Corporation redevelopment plan. Collins had been unable to repay the $40 million it had borrowed from the bank five years ago to complete the garage, offices, and shops in Hulfish North.

Citizens Group Formally Organized To Keep Library on Witherspoon

A group calling itself Citizens to Expand Library at Present Location held a press conference Tuesday morning at the Nassau Inn to describe their purpose.

Bruce Afran, an attorney who lives on Chestnut Street, presided at the meeting, which was attended by about a dozen residents. The group describes itself as an outgrowth of an informal group of citizens which has been active over the past year in promoting the expansion of the Princeton Public Library at its present site. It includes some 285 residents who signed a petition to the Library trustees and to the Borough mayor in December, 1990.

According to the press release handed out at the meeting, members of this group decided a more formal organization was needed following the joint Borough Council-Township Committee meeting on August 5. They were "disappointed," as the press release puts it, that at that meeting Borough Council members reversed their vote to conduct a single architectural study of expanding the library at the Witherspoon Street site and voted moments later for a study that would include the feasibility of expanding into Epstein's store in the Princeton Shopping Center as well.

The press release continues: "The group believes that expenditure of additional study monies is unwarranted and a waste of taxpayers' money, especially at a time when both municipal governments have stated that it will be difficult for them to fund the full expansion at one time."

Mr. Afran and Yolan Arlett, who conducted the December, 1990 petition drive, say they believe a great majority of Princeton residents want the library to remain where it is — in the cultural center of the town. They say their goal is to make sure elected officials recognize the wishes of the majority of the residents, and they are asking other citizens who support the library in its present site to make themselves known.

They would like to see the vote taken on August 5 by Township Committee and by Borough Council reversed, so that there is one study of one site — the corner of Witherspoon Street and Wiggins where the library has been for the past 25 years.

The group has agreed on a charter, which is reprinted as

Geffrard

A. Delehey on September 27, Geffrard could receive a prison term of up to 20 years.

Geffrard's public defender, attorney Robin Kay has announced that she will appeal the verdict, adding that she has no doubt in her mind that the jury's verdict will be overturned by the state appeals court. Assistant County Prosecutor Edward C. Bertucio Jr. observed, as a result of the verdict, "This threat has been removed from society."

The case against Geffrard was built on circumstantial evidence. Miss Woods, who was stabbed once in the arm and once in her left side, told police that her assailant had worn a mask. In court she admitted that she could not identify Geffrard as her attacker.

Because of the length of time it took for the jury to reach its decision, there was a concern it might be deadlocked and Geffrard would have to be tried again.

According to one juror, who did not wish to be identified, two members of the panel were not convinced that Geffrard was guilty. However, they changed their minds after testimony from a forensic expert was re-read.

Geffrard was also found guilty of another weapons charge less than two months before the Woods stabbing in which he dropped a knife and mask outside a Princeton home.

Charged In Auto Fatality

There has been a partial resolution of another pending case.

Two years ago, on September 10, 1989, Princeton University freshman Austin Nahm, 18, of Chappaqua, N.Y. was killed attempting to cross Route 542 in the Pinelands while on a field trip with other incoming freshmen.

He was struck by a pickup truck and as he lay injured on the roadway, another pickup truck coming in the same direction also struck him.

According to Burlington County Assistant Prosecutor Michael Riley, two cousins, Kenneth and Joseph Valentino of Atlantic County, allegedly were the drivers of the two pickup trucks.

Both currently free on bail, they have been charged with death-by-auto and hindering apprehension. Information received from a telephone tip to a Philadelphia crime fighters program and relayed to the State Police sparked the investigation that led to their arrest.

Sammis Vice President Mark Yeager said he currently has a commitment of 9,000 square feet from factory-direct outlets at Forrestal Village. He declined to name any of the prospective tenants because leases are currently being negotiated. Sammis expects a spring opening for the new concept.

The total retail component of Forrestal Village is 200,000 square feet. The complex also includes a Marriott hotel, office space, and a day care center. Currently, said Mr. Yeager, 50 percent of the retail space, including the food court, is leased. About 70 percent of the office space has been leased.

The Sammis Company rejected site plan alterations as it drew up its new plan for the Village, said Mr. Yeager. This will continue to preclude the possibility of either an anchor store or movie theaters.

Mr. Yeager anticipates that about 50,000 to 60,000 square feet of retail space will eventually be leased at the Village. "We will let the market dictate how much can be absorbed," he said.

All tenants are being encouraged to stay, he said. He added, however, that reduced rents will not be offered. "Rents can't be much lower than they are right now."

Liberty Village Is Model

Forrestal Village is not for sale, he said, and noted that Sammis will spend upwards of $5 million in capital improvement work by the end of the year.

Mr. Yeager pointed to Liberty Village, in Flemington, as the kind of complex Forrestal Village will become. "This is a good example of what we expect to see," he said. "There are a lot of similarities."

The kinds of design flaws that plagued Forrestal Village are those that will benefit factory-direct shops, said Mr. Yeager. Lack of visibility is not a detriment, he said, nor is the lack of a draw, such as an anchor store or movie theaters. He said that factory-direct stores do not require an intense dense population, easy access, or a climate-controlled environment, as do more traditional shopping centers.

Regarding plans for Hulfish North, Mr. Yeager announced that The Sammis Company expects to clean up Paul Robeson Place "in the next two or three months."

Plans for Hulfish North

The rear of the Hulfish North garage, facing Paul Robeson Place, has been littered with construction debris and weeds since the initial 17 townhouse units were completed two years ago. None of these units has been sold. According to the original redevelopment plan, an additional 97 townhouse units are to be built at this site.

The future of the already constructed 17 townhomes, as well as the proposed 97 additional ones, will now be determined by The Sammis Company.

Mr. Yeager suggested there was a strong possibility that the purchase price of the unsold units would be reduced. The future of the additional 97 townhomes will be announced in the next several months, when Sammis introduces its plans for Hulfish North.

Poor drainage on the Paul Robeson site had created huge pools after a rain, and this prompted the Mercer County Soil Conservation Authority in June to issue a stop-work order. Under this order, no further work may be done, or certificates of occupancy issued, until the site is drained and graded.

The stop-work order effectively halted any additional rental in the project, which contains several vacant shops as well as the townhouses.

Also within the next several months, Mr. Yeager said that landscaping of the gravel courtyard on the north side of Hulfish North will be completed.

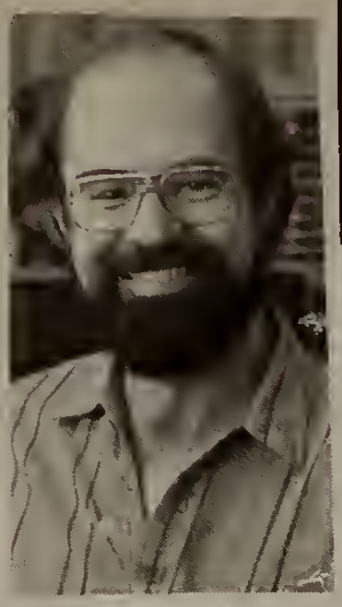
Astronomers Look Farther and Farther Back in Time
Increasing Chances of Understanding Early Universe

The sky's the limit! Maybe. Perhaps the limit is in the eye of the beholder. Two Princeton astronomers and one from the California Institute of Technology have spent many man and telescope hours pushing towards the outer bounds of the universe.

On August 26 James Gunn of Princeton University's Astronomy Department, Donald Schneider of the Institute for Advanced Study, and Maarten Schmidt of Cal Tech announced the discovery of the quasar PC1247+3406 — the most distant object yet observed in our universe.

Quasars are extremely luminous objects — not stars — whose spectra contain strong emission features.

Donald Schneider



James Gunn

The discovery of PC1247+3406 came very quickly after the astronomers had begun their survey; this event may imply the existence of more objects at this distance, or this may be the only one and they were incredibly lucky. The latter interpretation is "utterly unlikely," says Dr. Schneider. "When the technique is new and you find one this quickly — when you set a new record right away — you can reasonably assume there are more. On average, we might expect to find seven of them in this survey." Nothing, however, is guaranteed.

The project now under way was specifically designed to detect extremely distant, or high redshift, quasars. The distance is determined by measuring the shift of an object's light spectrum into the red, and is actually a measurement of the time the light has taken to get close enough to be seen from the earth. The earlier in the history of the universe an object existed, the more the wave lengths it emitted get stretched out as they travel toward us, and the redder they look.

Redshift is expressed by a number: the ratio of the wavelength seen through the telescope to the original wavelength of emission, minus 1. In a quasar of redshift 2 the observed wavelengths are three times the emitted wavelengths. The 1 is subtracted so that, if there is no redshift, the number will be 0.

PC1247+3406 has a redshift of 4.897, which places it about 900 million years after the Big Bang. In 1989 the team found a quasar with redshift of 4.733. In terms of time, this is a difference of 40 million years.

TOPICS Of the Town

The younger quasar was found by Gunn, Schneider and Schmidt in the first such survey they did, begun in the early 1980's, at which time Dr. Schmidt had been on the trail of quasars for some 22 years. Using the 200-inch Hale telescope at Palomar Observatory in California, they used the "transit" technique — a stationary telescope is pointed at a section of the sky and the universe rolls by with the rotation of the earth.

4-Shooter Camera

Jim Gunn soon built just the camera — 4-shooter — to receive the signals. Dr. Schneider, whom Dr. Schmidt had hired as a post-doctoral fellow, was designing computer programs to figure out what the signals meant — hoping to separate a relatively few quasars from the millions of nearby stars cluttering up the view.

When they began, the largest redshift that had been observed in a quasar was 3.5. "We could either design a survey to look for quasars within that limit, or try to extend it," notes Dr. Schneider. They decided to go for distance, rather than numbers, and their equipment was designed to find quasars in the range of 2.7 to 4.8 redshift.

They knew quasars had been found at 2.7, so if they could see those, they'd know their system was working. Then, if they didn't find quasars at larger redshifts, they might guess that there weren't any. If they had looked for only the larger redshifts, and found nothing, they might have suspected their methods.

"But we found quasars at a redshift of 4.7," so obviously they were doing something right. "We couldn't go past 4.8 with this project, however," continues Dr. Schneider, "so once again we bad to decide wbether to just see how many we could find with our current capabilities, or to try to enhance 4-shooter so it could detect larger redshift quasars."

Found in No Time Flat

Again, they opted for distance. The new, improved 4-shooter found PC1247+3406 in almost no time flat. It was fitted with custom-made filters which look only at the red end of the spectrum and maximize the possibility of finding high redshift quasars.

With this early success to boost morale, Jim Gunn and Don Schneider are back at Palomar this week to pursue their quarry. If the weather cooperates — clear, still air — they'll observe. Four nights' observing were enough to find PC1247+3406; one more night would be "extremely precious. We get a billion numbers a night," says Dr. Schneider, pleased.

The group feels that their sample, even going for distance rather than quantity, is adequate to give some idea of the distribution of quasars over the 13 or so billion years the universe is thought to have been in existence.

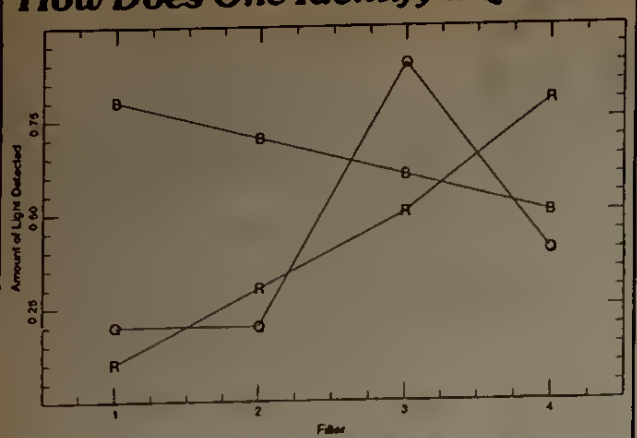
How Does One Identify a Quasar?



One of these things is not like the others....

How do you find a quasar? The spectrum of a quasar stands out like a sore thumb — rather, a very large "thumb" of extremely intense energy emission appears in the hydrogen wavelength. The spectrum of a star is much smoother.

Above is a schematic diagram indicating the differences. The line BBBB is the spectrum of a blue star; RRRR is a red star; the "Q" line represents a quasar.

The big hydrogen peak is typical of a quasar and is shown in more detail in the actual spectrum diagram of PC1247+3406 (below). "So," says astronomer Donald Schneider, "you just look at all the objects in your survey — or, at least, your computer program looks at them — and you pick out the odd-looking ones."

The older the quasar, the higher the redshift, and the identifying "thumb" (technically known as Lyman alpha) moves that much further toward the red end of the spectrum. Dr. Schneider and fellow astronomers are essentially chasing Lyman alpha as far as their techniques will allow.

dinosaurs, there was an era of quasars," says Dr. Schneider. They peaked at redshift between 2 and 3, or when the universe was about two billion years old. At a point approximately halfway in time between the present and the Big Bang, quasars became very scarce.

Ron Out of Gos

"They basically ran out of gas," explains Professor of Physics and cosmologist P. James E. Peebles. Quasars depend on very hot gases. The gases — mainly hydrogen — are sucked into black holes, with a farewell gesture of extremely intense radiation. It is thought that this radiation registers as what we call a quasar.

The presence of trace elements heavier than hydrogen in the spectra implies the existence of large stars to produce them — hence the importance of quasars in theories of galaxy formation.

The team's current observations show very few quasars earlier than about two billion years after the Big Bang. The present filter system can only be pushed up to a redshift of 7.

"After that, the CCD's (charge-coupled devices) are inadequate to register the signals," noted Dr. Schneider.

Much has been said about such distant objects forcing theorists to revise their theories of galaxy and universe origins. Dr. Peebles notes that "no major theories, such as the Big Bang, have had to be revised. Many of our ideas on how galaxies formed are pretty tenuous anyway."

Theorists welcome any clues they can get. PC1247+3406 is just such a clue. "These discoveries can put a lid on some of the crazier ideas we come up with," remarks Dr. Peebles. "The closer observations can come to the time of the Big Bang, the better notion we'll have of what the early universe was really like."

—Alison Peebles

One-Year Ban on Kegs Announced by University

Princeton University President Harold T. Shapiro has announced a year-long ban on beer kegs on campus, effective immediately.

The ban applies to all undergraduates and graduate students, as well as to faculty, administrators, alumni and others while they are on campus, in off-campus dormitories, or at University-sponsored events in Princeton and elsewhere. The ban can not be enforced at the eating clubs, which are independent of the University, but President Shapiro is urging the clubs to adopt similar policies.

"I have come to the conclusion that a significant part of the abusive drinking that takes place on campus and at the eating clubs is facilitated by the ready availability of beer in kegs," President Shapiro said in announcing the ban. "Moreover the keg has come to symbolize unlimited and abusive consumption of alcohol."

The University's alcohol policy already effectively prohibits kegs in undergraduate dormitories. President Shapiro said he hopes "this broader and more explicit ban will encourage students and others to think more seriously about the quantities of alcohol available on our campus at both private and University-sponsored events."

University policy provides that alcoholic beverages will not normally be served at University events where persons under 21, the legal drinking age in New Jersey, are present. Those who wish to sponsor events where alcoholic beverages are served must obtain the permission of the Dean of Students office or the office of the Dean of the Graduate School. The sponsors then are responsible for ensuring that only those of legal drinking age are served.

Last March, following incidents of drunken behavior at club functions, President Shapiro assigned to Carl Wartenburg, special assistant to the president, the full time task of trying to discourage students from "centering their social life on alcoholic beverages," as a New York Times article put it.

In 1988 a night of excessive drinking at the initiation of new members into the eating clubs sent six students to Princeton Medical Center, one in a coma, for treatment of alcohol poisoning, and 39 more intoxicated students to the University's McCosh infirmary. Two officers of one of the clubs were charged with providing alcobol to students under the legal age of 21.

They were found guilty and given a 30-day jail sentence and $500 fine. On appeal the jail sentence was later reduced to nine months on probation with community service and tbe fine. Shortly thereafter Princeton hired its first full time alcohol counselor, Kevin Ferry. Mr. Ferry has since left the University and his responsibilities are being handled by Susan Packer, an associate senior clinical psychologist in the counseling center at McCosh Health Center.

President Shapiro noted that the new ban on beer kegs is likely to increase the numbers of cans and bottles that need to be recycled, and he called for appropriate recycling measures for Reunions and other major events. The ban will be discussed and reviewed with relevant faculty and student committees and evaluated at the end of the 1991-92 academic year.

Apartment Is Entered In Elm Court Saturday

There were a half-dozen break-ins reported by police last week in Princeton, including the apartment of a 64-year-old resident of Elm Court off Elm Drive.

While the victim was away between 10:30 and 11 Saturday morning, police said, someone entered her apartment without force and stole four blouses and 12 pairs of pants valued at approximately $800 from her closet. "We are continuing this investigation," commented Capt. Peter Hanley this week.

Taken overnight from an office building in the 100 block of Nassau Street were an Apple computer and two telephones that were part of a Merlin system.

Police report a window in the front door was broken between 11:30 Thursday evening and the next morning to allow the intruder to reach in and unlock the door. As yet, police have received no value on the missing items.

A student moving into his dorm room in Henry Hall on the University campus reported the overnight theft of a $200 love seat and three mirrors valued at a combined $215. The room was not locked.

In another campus theft, this one in Westminster Choir College's Seabrook Hall, a student from Connecticut reported the theft of four silver necklaces that were hanging on a hook inside the closet door. They were taken during a half-hour period in the morning while her room was unlocked.

There was an attempted burglary Thursday at a residence on Bayard Lane near Nassau Street where, Lt. Hanley reports, someone tried to kick open the rear door. The door was damaged, he said, but no entry was gained.

Five Chain Saws Stolen

Five chain saws worth a combined $2,500 were stolen last week from a storage shed off Pretty Brook Road behind Princeton Day School.

Police said that a hole had been dug during the night on the northeast corner of the building, allowing the intruder to crawl inside.

The owner was identified as the Empire Tree and Landscape Service of Pretty Brook Road. Ptl. Stephan Hogancamp investigated after police received a call at 7:10 last Wednesday morning.

Two Cases of Lewdness In Borough Last Week

Two cases of lewdness involving masturbation were reported last week in the Borough.

Last Wednesday evening, according to Capt. Peter Hanley, a 34-year-old Witherspoon Street resident was driving when she noticed a man standing next to a house on the corner of Wiggins and Vandeventer. He had his pants down and was masturbating, she said. She described him as a white male in his 20s or early 30s approximately six feet tall with medium brown hair.

The previous afternoon, three Township girls, ranging in age from 8 to 13, walked into Robertson Hall at the Woodrow Wilson School and observed a man masturbating on a couch just inside the doorway. The suspect, Lt. Hanley reported, looked at the girls but made no effort to speak to them. Two of the three girls are sisters, and they went home and told their mother, who notified police.

The suspect is described as a white male, possibly Hispanic, 5-6, with dark hair and a full moustache.

Too Young for a Bud, Borough Man Is Charged

A 20-year-old Jefferson Road resident, Benjamin Warren, has been charged with possession of alcohol under the legal age and with possession of drug paraphernalia.

Warren was observed attempting to conceal something under his shirt by a patrol officer, as the officer was walking in the Woodrow Wilson School plaza Thursday evening. A check revealed "the something" to be a bottle of Budweiser beer. In the immediate area, police found three more unopened bottles in a six-pack carton.

Warren was placed under arrest and taken to police headquarters where he was found to be in possession of a marijuana roach and a pipe and a case. He is scheduled to appear Monday in Borough court.

$1,000 in Shirts Taken From Nassau St. Store

Thirty shirts valued at $1,020 ($34 each) and a $68 jacket were shoplifted last week from a Nassau Street clothing store.

A clerk in the store, which police declined to identify, saw the suspect enter the store and then attempt to leave a few minutes later with a large white bag filled with the stolen clothing. The clerk confronted the suspect but did not pursue him when he left the store. Police called to the scene searched the area without success.

The suspect is described as a black male, approximately 30 years old, 5-11, 160, wearing gold wire-rim glasses, baggy blue jeans and a white shirt.

The same day — last Wednesday — there were two shoplifting incidents at stores on Palmer Square.

In the first, a clerk at the Gap saw a suspect attempt to conceal a $32 belt and called police. Ptl. Robert Currier was on foot patrol in the area and saw the suspect, a female, enter a car. The officer stopped the car and arrested Beverly Thomas, 20, of Hyde Park, Mass.

Inside the car, Plt. Currier observed a purse with the price tag still attached. His investigation revealed it had been stolen from The Lodge, a nearby store. Thomas was released, pending an appearance Monday in Borough court.

Township police report a shoplifting at The Radio Shack in the Princeton Shopping Center. According to Lt. Mario Musso, two Tandy 1100 laptop computers worth $800 each were taken from the computer section where both were on display. They were stolen sometime between Thursday and 1 Friday afternoon.

A swim at the Community Park Pool Saturday cost a Township resident $2,000. Less

Deadline Extended

The Public Library has extended the deadline for reporting books read by members of the Summer Reading Club.

Members have until Friday, September 13, to reach their reading goals and to report books read and reading activities completed over the summer. Animals in the Children's Room still have room for more spots, stripes, feathers and scales. Bring in your reading folders, and the children's librarians will make sure that you have all the prizes you've earned.

than an hour after the victim had parked his 1979 Buick in the pool lot, a pool attendant informed him that his car door was open. In checking, he discovered that $2,000 in $10s, $20s, and $50s, wrapped in white plastic wrap, was missing. There was no forced entry, police said.

While moving his property into Lourie-Love Hall on the University campus last week, a student left a cardbord box on the curb of Elm Drive. When he returned a few minutes later, the box was gone. It contained some 40 compact discs, six books and a gross of pens. Total value: about $800.

A member of the University's field hockey team joined the list of theft victims. Police report she was staying in a dance studio in Dillon Gym on Sunday because her dorm room was not yet available. Someone entered the studio and removed an envelope containing $20 from her pocketbook. Police, Capt. Peter Hanley commented, believe the door was locked and entry to the studio may have been gained through an open window.

An 18-year-old Township youth lost $13 and his $20 wallet, which was stolen last week from the Valley Road soccer field. According to police, after playing soccer on Thursday, the victim had removed his wallet while changing his shoes and had left it behind. When he returned it was gone.

A $1,500 golf cart, stolen overnight last week from a storage area at the Springdale golf club, was later recovered on the course behind some trees. However, one of two battery chargers in the back, valued at $300, was missing.

Pennington Woman Dies When Car Rams Tractor

A Pennington resident, Diana Brant, 48, of 5 Western Pine Street, was killed Friday evening when her Jaguar sedan ran into the rear of a large tractor on the Pennington-Rocky Hill Road in front of the Kerr Farm.

Mrs. Brant was pronounced dead at Princeton Medical Center about 9 p.m. some 45 minutes after the accident occurred not far from her home. The Kerr Farm is adjacent to the Mobil Oil Research facility.

The driver of the tractor, George Kerr, 41, was listed in stable condition at Helene Fuld Hospital in Trenton.

Ptl. Edward Van Hise of the Hopewell Township police department, who is investigating, said Tuesday that there is a motor vehicle charge against Mr. Kerr for operating after appropriate hours.

According to Ptl. Van Hise, lights on the rear of Mr. Kerr's John Deere tractor were on at the time. There were no skid marks left by the victim's car.

When the victim's car struck the tractor, the force of the impact rammed it into a berm off the right side of the road and the heavy diesel tractor broke in two. The front end of the victim's powerful car was demolished and it burst into flames.

When Ptl. Van Hise arrived on the scene he found the victim outside her car. "At some point, she was taken out. We're not sure by whom," he said.

Ptl. Van Hise also confirmed that the victim's husband was following his wife in his own car. She reportedly had picked up her car after it had been repaired and was heading home to some house guests.

Paramedics and firemen from the Pennington Volunteer Fire Company arrived on the scene and assisted the victims.

Distributing LSD Tabs; Juvenile, 17, Charged

A 17-year-old Township juvenile was arrested last week and charged by Borough police with juvenile deliquency — namely, said Capt. Peter Hanley, "that he was in possession of and did distribute LSD." Capt. Hanley reported the youth had about eight LSD tabs in his possession when he was arrested last Tuesday evening by detectives on Palmer Square.

His arrest, Capt. Hanley commented, was the result of an ongoing investigation. The youth was later released to his family, pending further action by Mercer County juvenile authorities.

Anti-Consolidationists Won't Run

The Committee to Preserve Our Historic Borough (POHB) has announced it will not offer a slate for the study proposed by the Borough Township Consolidation Study Committee.

"Since POHB has already made public our position on consolidation, it would be hypocritical for us to oppose the study and at the same time to present candidates for it," said Orren Jack Turner, chairman. "We think that all candidates must be seen to be impartial, since objectivity is the first requirement of a meaningful study, to ensure the public's trust in its findings.

"The Committee is convinced that consolidation is not in the best interests of either community, and this is especially true of the Borough. It would lead to unwelcome changes and sharp conflicts between the urban and suburban points of view. It would diminish at one stroke the Borough's voice in its future," he said.

"In rejecting this fifth proposal to study consolidation, POHB feels that it would be the first step down the road to merger, a step that the Borough should not take.

"We also have a great reluctance to pit neighbor against neighbor in one more abrasive and divisive battle," Mr. Turner concluded. "Friends can disagree and still remain friends, except for the knotty question of consolidation, which its past history bears out."

The question of whether a commission should be formed to study consolidation will appear on the November ballot.

Three Drivers Are Fined For Traffic Violations

Three Princeton area residents were fined last week in Township traffic court.

Guillermo Sarabia-Hernandez, 249 State Road, was fined $65 for speeding and $30 on a probationary license infraction.

Also fined $65 each were Ralph H. Stas, 10 Francis Drive, Belle Mead, careless driving, and Carmen M. Sagebien, 2 Blue Spruce Drive, Pennington, speeding.

BMW Windshield Broken By Falling Tree Limb

Township police are labeling it accidental property damage.

While a Cherry Valley Road resident was driving his 1989 BMW 750 sedan on Ridgeview Road near Ridgeview Circle early Thursday afternoon, a tree service company was trimming limbs in the area. One of the limbs, police said, accidentally fell, struck the car's windshield and broke it. The driver was not injured.

Lt. Mario Musso, in declining to reveal the name of the company, reported there were no warning signs on the roadway and no one was controlling traffic.

In an act of criminal mischief last week, a cab window of a front end loader parked at a construction site on Bunn Drive, was broken by a rock. The rock was found inside the cab.

Replacement cost of the eight-inch by two-foot window was listed at $300. The victim was identified as Peter Rochelle Contracting, Inc. of Lake Hopatcong.

In the Borough, a resident of John Street told police that a small window of his home was broken by a stone around 9:50 Saturday evening.

Chamber Set to Honor Nicholas L. Carnevale

The Princeton Area Chamber of Commerce will hold a dinner on Friday, September 27, at the Hyatt Regency-Princeton, to honor Nicholas L. Carnevale, a longtime chamber member, its chairman in 1972, and a member of the board of directors for 16 years.

A long career with Walter B. Howe, Inc., from which he recently retired as chairman of the board, was preceded by, among other things, army service in Korea and obtaining degrees in management and psychology from Rutgers University.

Starting as a high school student working with a youth ethics group at the Princeton YMCA in the 1940s, Mr. Carnevale, who was born in Princeton, has been associated with, or helped establish, organizations that have had direct impact on the spiritual, educational and cultural lives of Princeton and the region.

He has been actively involved with the Presbyterian Church; the Rotary club, both local and regional; The Princeton Medical Center; the Chamber; the American Boychoir School; Westminster Choir College; and Thomas Edison College. Recently, he and his wife, Marjorie, helped establish small libraries in Cree Indian Reservations in Quebec.

Other awards honoring Mr. Carnevale's community service are The Silver Dime Awards; the Governor's Award for attainment of Rotary ideals, and the Governor's Service Award.

To make a reservation for the Chamber of Commerce dinner, call the chamber office, 520-1776.

Registration Under Way In Youth Theater Classes

Creative Theatre is holding registration for its fall classes and also for its full-year classes.

Students ages 4 to 18 may register for classes in creative drama, acting, theater and video production. Classes are held at the Arts Council building, 102 Witherspoon Street, begining Monday, September 23 and running for 10 weeks. The sessions are held weekdays one afternoon a week.

The 30-session full-year classes (three 10-week sessions) explore a specific piece of literature and develop an original play around its themes. Third- and fourth-graders may sign up for the Advanced Idea Workshop, while 5th-7th graders enrolled in Theatre Workshop I will work this year at developing their own version of Lewis Carroll's Alice's Adventures in Wonderland.

Themes found in Shakespeare's Julius Caesar will be explored by 8th-10th graders as they develop their own original play with music in Theatre Workshop II.

Creative Theatre's semester classes for new and returning students include Discovery

NOT FORGOTTEN: Sharon Woods and Bristol-Myers Squibb's Chef Michael Moscetti gather food for homeless children in the Lawrence and Princeton area.

Homeless Children Fed Throughout the Summer

Every weekday Sharon Woods, a formerly homeless woman, picks up an average of 100 meals from Bristol-Myers Squibb and with the help of other homeless people, distributes them to needy children in the Lawrence area.

Bristol-Myers Squibb Pharmaceutical Group has been furnishing meals to homeless children temporarily housed in motels along the Route One corridor and to children in the daycare program at the Lawrence Neighborhood Center. The project is in association with the Exchange Club of Greater Princeton and the Summer Food Service Program of the New Jersey Department of Education.

The Bristol-Myers Squibb kitchen prepares breakfast and lunches for the children who would otherwise go hungry if such a program did not exist. This is the company's second summer of providing meals to needy children.

"Bristol-Myers Squibb's summer project considers the needs of the community on a year-round basis," said Jane Kramer, Director of Community Affairs. "It recognizes that charitable donations rise in winter months, primarily around the holiday season, while the numbers of homeless don't decrease in summer months along with donation levels. Fortunately, the children are provided with meals during the academic year by schools," she said.

Connie Mercer-Myers is president of the Princeton Exchange Club, which is responsible for helping to establish this program. The Exchange Club's 80 members provide several hundred area homeless people with a range of support services.

Aviation Open House At Princeton Airport

A "General Aviation Jubilee" open house will be held at the Princeton Airport on Saturday, between 10 and 4. American General Aviation Corporation and Princeton Air Corp are co-sponsoring the day's events.

The celebration is in honor of the new "Tiger" aircraft which has recently been returned into production. "This is an exciting event in light of the status of the aviation industry and the economy," stated Dick Nierenberg, president of Princeton Air Corp. "The production of new, light aircraft has virtually ceased in the United States, primarily due to the crisis with liability insurance."

Citizens to Expand Library at Present Location

Charter

There is movement by a small group to move the library to the "Epstein's Shopping Center." The supporters of this effort say that they only wish to study this possibility. We, as a nonpartisan group, oppose this as the first step in diminishing our identity as a community and also destroying the library as a cultural institution.

Let us not be pressured into destroying the role of the library as we know it.

Princeton is unique as a small town because of its vibrant cultural center. Throughout America, Princeton is known as the standard for educational excellence, and its library is known as a leader for preserving those standards. To move the library to a warehouse-like building away from the heart of the community betrays those ideals.

The delay in expanding the library in its present location because of bureaucratic and political maneuvering postpones the continued excellence of education and learning. A library is our first defense of freedom and cultural excellence, and it can only play its rightful role when it stands among its citizens.

A library can be built in any place, but it can only fulfill its mission when it is an integral part of the community. By standing at the heart of the two Princetons, the library is a beacon that reaches all parts of our community. We pledge ourselves to the preservation of this cultural pillar for future generations and to its expansion only at its present site. The founders of our library knew that a library must be seen for its purpose to be felt, for its mission to endure.

It is our goal to carry on to further protect their vision.

American General Aviation Corporation bought the light single and multi-engine line from Gulfstream American and has been producing the Tiger for about a year and a half in Greenville, Miss. Princeton Airport has two new airplanes based at the airport. For $25 the sponsors will provide a demonstration ride for interested people.

Bendix/King will have a Loran display, and Harry Turner, manager, Regional Airline Sales, will be available to explain the operational features of the KLN-88 Loran. There will be a drawing to win a KX-99 hand-held transceiver. From Textron Lycoming, representative Ray Crist will be ready to answer questions related to Lycoming engines.

Campaign Chairman For 1991/92 United Way

Dennis F. Wasniewski

Dennis F. Wasniewski has been named 1991/92 campaign chairman for the United Way-Princeton Area Communities.

Mr. Wasniewski and other volunteers will direct what continues to be one of New Jersey's most successful United Way campaigns. Last year the United Way Princeton Area Campaign successfully raised $2.996 million under the leadership of Carol L. Holzer of Princeton YWCA.

Mr. Wasniewski has spent the last three years as a member of the board of trustees of United Way-Princeton Area Communities, and he now serves on the executive committee and vice chairman of funds distribution.

A partner in the accounting firm Deloitte & Touche, Mr. Wasniewski has been with the company since 1973. He is a member of the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants and the American Institute of Certified Public accountants. He is also a past president of Accountants for the Public Interest and an adjunct professor at Rider College.

ETS Donates Easement; Trail Along Stony Brook

Educational Testing Service (ETS) has donated a conservation easement with a trail along Stony Brook to Lawrence Township.

The trail runs from Carter Road to Province Line Road and is now permanently protected from development. The conservation easement covers the wooded stream corridor and extends 100 feet from Stony Brook along the length of ETS' approximate 4,000 feet of frontage on the brook.

Across Province Line Road is the Ettl Farm property, which received preliminary approval in November, 1988, from the Princeton Regional Planning Board for 117 lots, and final approval for the 67 lots in the first phase. Among the many conditions was one stipulating that at the time phase two is built, the developer will donate 43 acres with an existing trail along Stony Brook to Princeton Township. Township Committee would have to accept the donation, which would take the land off the tax rolls.

The two trails connect and would provide a public walkway from Carter Road in Lawrence Township to Wendover Drive in Princeton Township, a distance of approximately 2½ miles. The adjacent stream corridor would also be protected from development and other disturbances — goals of the Stony Brook Greenway, a project of the Delaware & Raritan Greenway, Inc. a regional nonprofit land conservancy.

Salon des Philosophes Will Meet at Peacock Inn

The Salon des Philosophes has announced that it will hold meetings from 8 to 11 p.m. Wednesday nights at the Peacock Inn.

The purpose of the group, which also meets weekly in Morristown and Peapack, is to bring the university to the restaurant in a French salon setting via weekly lectures and discussion on a wide range of subjects, with an emphasis on the philosophical, spiritual, and metaphysical.

"Weaving Celtic Nature-Based Rituals into our Lives" will be the discussion topic on September 11.

On September 18, the evening will focus on "Eastern Philosophy: Meditation, Contemplation and the Challenge to the Western Mind." Prof. Francis Caminiti, of Seton Hall University, will lecture.

"Nature and Spirit," with Prof. Robert Corrington of Drew University lecturing, will be the September 25 topic. The focus of his talk will be on the relationship between nature and spirit, and an exploration of the ideas of Ralph Waldo Emerson, Martin Heidegger, and other naturalists.

The evening will include an hour lecture, hors d'oeuvres, dessert, coffee, and tea, followed by an hour-long discussion. Admission is $22.

For further information and reservations, call (908) 234-9493.

Construction to Begin On Somerville Circle

The New Jersey Department of Transportation will hold a public information center concerning the construction activities that will begin shortly to improve the Somerville Circle (Routes 202, 206 and 28) in Bridgewater Township, Raritan Borough and Somerville Borough, Somerset County.

The information center is scheduled for Thursday, September 5, from 2:30 until 7:30 in the Raritan Borough Municipal Building, Community Room, 22 First Avenue, Raritan.

The purpose of this information center is to discuss with the public the four stages of construction for this project that will provide a new bridge to carry Route 202 over the "Circle" and also includes resurfacing work and the installation of curbing and guiderails.

Soccer Registration Set By PSA for Saturday

The Princeton Soccer Association will hold registration for its recreational leagues on Saturday at the Dinky railroad station on University Place from 10 until noon.

The program, which is for girls and boys in grades K-8, is played on Saturdays from September 14 through November 16 on the Washington Road "Fete" fields. The fee of $30 can be waived in the case of financial hardship. To make soccer more accessible to as many children as possible, PSA will make soccer shoes and shin guards available to any child requesting a fee waiver and needing equipment. PSA volunteers are also organizing a "buddy" system to link drivers with children who need transportation to and from the soccer fields.

Neither Princeton residency nor previous soccer experience is required for this "just for fun" soccer league. For further information, call PSA president Ted Terpstra at 924-8243.

Medical Center Program For At-Risk Mothers

Princeton Medical Center has begun a new maternal-fetal medicine and reproductive genetics program that will bring perinatologists and geneticists from The University of Pennsylvania Medical Center to Princeton to see patients.

Women who are at risk of developing problems during pregnancy or who may want to have genetic screening will be referred into the program through their private obstetrician/gynecologist, and will be seen by the maternal-fetal medicine and reproductive genetics teams, in conjunction with the referring physician.

The program will be staffed by physicians currently affiliated with The University of Pennsylvania Medical Center, who also are on the consulting staff to the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology in Maternal-Fetal Medicine and Reproductive Genetics at Princeton Medical Center. The interdisciplinary team consists of high-risk obstetricians, reproductive geneticists, a genetics counselor and a nurse ultrasonographer.

Those at risk for obstetrical problems include women who have had problems with previous pregnancies, are diabetic or hypertensive, have twin pregnancies or are at risk for delivering prematurely. Patients who may need genetic counseling or testing include women who are pregnant over the age of 35, and those with a family history of genetic disorders, birth defects or mental retardation.

The program is being held on Wednesday afternoons in the Medical Arts Building at Princeton Medical Center.

are expected at the show. The antiques will include furniture and furnishings, decorative accessories, Americana, paintings, antique maps, porcelains, fabrics, clocks, jewelry and silver, among other items.

General admission will be Saturday, September 7, from 11 to 8, and Sunday, September 8, from 12 to 5. There will be two special lectures on Saturday. "Fifth Avenue Palaces: Their Lords, Ladies & Entertainments" will be the subject of John-Peter Hayden Jr.'s talk at 10 a.m. Lawrence C. Goodhue will talk on "Connoisseurship in Fine Prints" at 2.

Tickets to the lectures are $5 each and may be purchased at the gate, although advance reservations are suggested. For information call 895-0101.

The Princeton Summer Antique Show is under the management of Zita Waters Bell Inc. of Boca Raton, Fla.

COOKING CONTEST: Store Manager Karen Schneider, left, and employee Gwen Murdoch check the rules of the "Dressing Up" cooking competition at Palmer Square's Crabtree & Evelyn. Contestants are challenged to write original recipes using the chain's oils, vinegars, and mustards. Short-listed recipes will be judged by a panel that includes designer Bill Blass. Grand prize is a long weekend for two in England. A complete rules book is available at the store.

Pick-Your-Own Corn: A Day at Howell Farm

On Saturday the public is invited to venture into the Howell Farm cornfield and pick corn by the dozen or by the sack during a special "Pick-your-own" day.

Farmers will be on hand from 10 until 4 to help visitors find the best ears and to introduce them to other kinds of corn grown on the 126-acre, horse-powered farm. These include Indian corn, popcorn, field corn and broomcorn. Farmer Don Woodward will demonstrate the art of building a shock of corn, and volunteer Jim Kruser will show how to roast sweet corn on an open fire.

A children's craft program, "Corn Husk Flowers," will be held at the farmhouse from 11 until 3. Crafts take 20 minutes to complete and cost $1 each.

Howell Farm is located on Valley Road just off Route 29 two miles south of Lambertville. Parking and admission are free. Fall hours are 10 to 4 Tuesdays through Saturdays and noon to 4 Sundays. Persons who would like to receive a calendar of Saturday programs should leave name and address on the farm's message unit, 737-3299.

Registration Under Way For YMCA Fall Session

The Princeton Family YMCA is accepting registration for the fall session, September 9 through November 17. There are programs for every age group.

For youth, there is soccer for youngsters ages 4 through 6; a full range of aquatics programs, beginning at 6 months; the swim team for youths 6 to 18; after school programs for K-8th grade; a model UN program and "Youth and Government" program for teenagers, as well as full-day child care and preschool mornings.

For adults there are fitness classes, adult leagues, aquatics, a theater workshop and other classes. The staff will also develop an individualized fitness program for individuals. Memberships are available for individuals and for families, and financial aid is available.

Call 497-YMCA for a brochure or come in for a tour of the facilities on Paul Robeson Place.

Princeton Community Housing Too Optimistic In Projecting Griggs Farm Sales, Audit Finds

The audit commissioned by Township Committee last March to review the operations of Griggs Farm, takes issue with procedures Princeton Community Housing used in making projections and in bidding the project. But it also states that the hard construction costs were "in line with industry standards" and that although interest, marketing and administrative costs were substantially higher than similar costs for comparable projects, this was due to "the additional time and effort required to sell units in a depressed real estate market."

The audit, prepared by Witham Smith & Brown, was proposed by incoming Township Mayor Richard Woodbridge as a new Republican administration took office at the beginning of the year. Concern over a projected deficit at Griggs Farm in excess of $6 million prompted Township Committee under former Mayor Kate Litvack to commission a marketing and financial analysis of the troubled project in the fall of 1990.

That report, recommending the Township replace PCH with an experienced marketing firm, was delivered to the Township just before the end of the year. This past April, the Township entered into a marketing agreement with A.P. Orleans Inc. of Huntingdon, Pa. to sell the remaining unsold units.

The audit, which is dated August 15 but was made available by the Township on Tuesday, along with a statement from PCH, is a review of Griggs Farm operations through December, 1990. The purpose was to determine whether any inefficient or uneconomical practices took place and if so, what the causes were, and to assess the overall effectiveness of PCH as the organization responsible for the project.

Overly Optimistic

The audit focused on three primary areas — financial, operational and organizational. The auditors say that sales projections over the term of the project were overly optimistic both in terms of unit sales prices and estimates of unit sales per month.

They find fault with the way the financial projections were made, suggesting that they should have been prepared in a summary format and accompanied by actual results and complete explanations of the underlying assumptions. Such a format, issued periodically, would have enabled a reader not familiar with the project on a day-to-day basis to determine the reasonableness of the assumptions used and to understand the magnitude of the changes in expected financial results over the life of the project, the audit states.

Under the section on operation, the audit points out that a formal competitive bidding process was not used to select the Griggs Farm architect or construction manager. It suggests that a formal bidding process should have been used and consideration should have been given to selecting firms with experience similar to the Griggs Farm project.

Moreover, the auditors state that completed architectural drawings should have been prepared before bids were received, and that the objective of the bidding process should have been to secure a fixed price contract rather than the guaranteed maximum price contract that was entered into.

More Accurate Estimates

The auditors says if this procedure had been followed, the estimated cost would have been more accurate from the beginning of the project and that these costs could have been used to evaluate the overall financial viability of the project before a go-ahead on the work was authorized. Furthermore they believe the number of change orders would have been reduced.

A major contributing factor to the number of change orders, which the auditors acknowledge, was the fact that construction was started with the entrance onto Route 206 before the cost of improvements required by the Department of Transportation were determined. Once it was realized that the cost of the required improvements were prohibitive, it was necessary to redesign and construct a different entrance onto Cherry Valley Road.

Another factor was the necessity of moving up the construction of the low-income housing in order to obtain a low-income tax credit. The auditors acknowledge that PCH was able to bring in $2.1 million from the sale of low-income housing credits.

On the other side of the ledger, they attribute $3.4 million in construction cost overruns to change orders, an extended construction period with work stoppages and renegotiated contracts. They also attribute $2.6 million of additional soft costs to the extended time it took to sell the units in a depressed market.

Complex Organization

In terms of organization, the audit finds that the organizational structure was "complex" because of the number of parties participating in the project and changes in Township personnel. PCH points out that while the structure and personnel of PCH Development Corp did not change over the term of the project, most key Township officials (and some staff) did change. Former Committeeman Tom Poole, who is now head of the Housing Board and a Township representative to the Griggs Farm Condominium Association, is the only Township individual who served from 1985 to 1991.

that in the early stages, from 1985 to June 1989, the Township "preferred a somewhat passive role." It was not until July, 1989, when sales of the market units were lagging badly, that Township Committee took an increasingly active role. A Joint Finance Committee, with representatives from Township Committee, the Housing Baord and PCH was established in August, 1989, and from that point to January, 1991, "no action with significat cost or policy implications occurred without the concurrence of this group."

The auditors suggest that if the Townshlp is to undertake a similar project again, that consideration be given to the employment of an experienced full-time construction manager. They also suggest that a project the size and complexity of Griggs Farm required a full-time controller "with a background in real estate development and construction."

Reached in Maine, where he is vacationing, Bob Cawley, who with Harriet Bryan, bore the main brunt of the Griggs Farm project, said he felt the audit "defends our actions rather well" and called it "a fairly decent report card." "The areas in which procedural suggestions were made are areas in which the results we achieved they say are satisfactory. We are not the only development that ran into troubles," he adds.

The PCH statement contains a list of "errors" discovered in the draft of the Withum Smith & Brown report, which PCH called to the attention of the firm and the Township. Both decided not to revise the report or correct the errors.

The statement begins by saying "It is gratifying to PCH to note that Withum Smith & Brown recognizes that the principal problem at Griggs Farm was the drastic decline in the real estate market." Although the statement mildly disagrees with the WSB analysis of procedures, the main point it makes is that PCH bent over backwards in keeping the Township informed of Griggs Farm progress and problems.

Gifts to Lawrenceville Top $2 Million Once More

Thanks to nearly 5,800 alumni, parents and friends, the Lawrenceville School has reported, the annual giving program raised more than $2 million in the 1990-91 academic year.

Forty-eight percent of alumni contributed, giving a total of $1,590,464. Reunion records were set by the Classes of 1931 and 1986, and class records were set by the Classes of 1941, 1951, 1961, 1966, 1971, 1976, and 1981. The Class of 1990 set their own record — they are the youngest class ever to achieve 50 percent participation. Parents of present and past Lawrentians were also extremely supportive, contributing more than $300,000.

A Horticultual Treasure Damaged by Road Work

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is a copy of a letter I have sent to Princeton Borough Mayor Marvin Reed:

The construction crew putting in the road and parking spaces on the Princeton High School property has extensively damaged one of the trees.

The Ginkgo [Ginkgo biloba] tree is located on the left-hand side of the Houghton Street entrance to the front of the school. Large limbs facing the grassy area have been negligently torn off causing stress to the tree. In order to save this tree it will require the immediate attention of a tree surgeon.

The Ginkgo tree is indigenous to China and Japan. I personally have only seen two of these trees, both of which are located on the Princeton High School grounds. Therefore I believe someone made a very conscious decision to plant this unusual species with its distinctive fan-like leaves many years ago. Needless to say it would be very unfortunate for Princeton to lose this horticultural treasure.

Thank you in advance for your prompt attention to this matter!

Resident Provides Treat For Redding Circle Kids

To the Editor of Town Topics:

On Sunday, August 25, Dr. Peter Panagos did something very, very special for the children at Redding Circle. He conducted a free pony ride for the children.

This is something that has never been done for these kids since I've been living here the past seven to eight years. He had the ice-cream truck here for the kids, along with refreshments from himself. It was such a nice and considerate gesture, for an elderly person that he is, to take the time and patience to show so much care and concern for the kids.

We at Redding Circle feel he is a very special person. What he did will never be forgotten. The children feel special to be thought of by someone other than their families. What a special person you are Peter! We can't thank you enough.

From all the families at Redding Circle.

News of the THEATRES

Staged Readings Planned By the Princeton Rep Co.

Princeton Rep Company, a professional Actors' Equity theatre company, announces its sixth season of PlayLab, a series of staged readings of new plays.

The readings will be presented every Sunday afternoon at 4 from this Sunday through October 6 with the exception of the September 22 reading which will be at 8 p.m. The readings will take place at the Arts Council building. They are free and open to the public.

Lucy and Lizzie Go a Huntin' by Laurie Greenwald will open the series on Sunday. Lucy and Lizzie is a black comedy about a zany Florida family's attempts to murder their son-in-law. Princeton Rep's artistic director, Victoria Liberatori, directs.

On Sunday, September 15, the company will read Drop Everything by Princeton Rep artistic associate Phyllis Purscell. Drop Everything is a comic fantasy about an environmental activist's mid-life crisis. RaeAnn Banker, Princeton Rep's literary manager, directs.

On September 22, Benjamin Bettenbender will direct his drama, Scaring the Fish, in which a benign fishing trip becomes a brutal confrontation for three male co-workers who clash over the meaning of love. This reading is at 8 p.m.

On September 29, Princeton Rep presents Christopher Scherer's History of a Somnambulist directed by Joe Jezewski. This romantic drama is set in 19th-century France and explores a doctor's daring attempt to cure a mysterious young girl.

Closing the series on October 6 is Roger Cornish's Nurture, directed by Victoria Liberatori. Nurture is an uncompromising look at an American family in transition in which a father's love for his alcoholic daughter is severely tested.

The five plays selected for the PlayLab series were chosen from more than 200 submissions nationwide. For reservations or more information, call 921-3682.

Ayckbourn Comedy Set By Dessert Theater

Off-Broadstreet Theatre in Hopewell will open its 14th series of entertainment on Friday, September 13, with Alan Ayckbourn's Table Manners. The comedy will be the 66th show presented by Robert and Julie Thick, producers of the theatre at 5 South Greenwood Avenue, Hopewell.

Table Manners is part of Ayckbourn's trilogy of plays called The Norman Conquests, which concern not William the Conqueror but Norman, the assistant librarian, whose ideas of conquest involve his wife's sister, his sister-in-law and his wife. The story centers around a proposed tryst between Norman, played by Richard Chibbaro, and his wife's sister Annie, who is unmarried.

Annie's brother (Michael Renda) and sister-in-law Sarah (B.J. Welsh) come over to housesit and take care of mother so that Annie can have a vacation. Sarah finds out about Annie's plans and sends for Norman's wife Ruth (Wendy Yazujian). Also adding to the confusion is Tom (Mark Murphy), Annie's constant but oblivious companion.

The Norman Conquests played in London and on Broadway. They were also aired on PBS in the late 1970s. Each play within the trilogy tells the comic events that occur from a different viewpoint. Table Manners focuses on events in the dining room.

Performances of Table Manners are weekends from September 13 through October 19. Friday and Saturday evenings feature dessert at 7 with curtain at 8. Sunday matinees are at 2:30 with dessert at 1:30. Admission is $15.75 on Fridays and Sundays, $17.25 on Saturdays. The price includes dessert.

Senior citizen discounts tickets at $14.50 are available for Sunday matinees only. For

IT'S TRUE THAT GOD HEALS.

Since God isn't a far-off ideal, but divine Love, always here — "a very present help in trouble," as the Bible says — it's natural that He should heal.

Many people have found this true, not only in Bible times but today. If you'd like to hear some personal experiences of healing, visit our Wednesday evening testimony meeting. We'd love to have you come.

Theatres

reservations call the theater at 466-2766.

Season subscriptions are available and offer priority seating. Table Manners will be followed by Peg O' My Heart, a romantic musical, with performances October 25 through December 7. Next comes Lend Me a Tenar, playing through the holidays, and Bernstein on Braadway, a musical celebration of the works of Leonard Bernstein that will run January 24 to March 7. Driving Miss Daisy will be the final offering in this series, running through April 18.

Offerings for the Season At George St. Playhouse

The works of Marsha Norman, Eugene O'Neill, Richard Vetere, Neil Simon, Jerry Sterner, Richard Holland, Marc Elliot, Judd Woldin and Tom Kempinski comprise George Street Playhouse's 18th Anniversary Season.

Premiering on September 28 is The Engagement by Richard Vetere. This light hearted romp is about four men and one woman who tackle the challenge of love and marriage. Running through October 20, The Engagement will be directed by Matthew Penn.

Anna Christie, Eugene O'Neill's passionate tale of love, despair and hope, comes to the GSP stage October 26 through November 17. Anna Christie will be directed by Kevin Dowling.

Also scheduled this season is the revival of Neil Simon's comedy I Ought to Be in Pictures. A Hollywood screen writer and his teenage daughter meet after 16 yers in this humorous and poignant look at one family's expectations and dreams. Directed by GSP's Producing Artistic Director Gregory S. Hurst, I Ought to Be in Pictures runs November 24 to December 22.

Separatian, Tom Kempinski's unconventional love story, makes its American debut January 4 to 26. Two physically isolated artists are brought together by the transatlantic telephone to form a lasting union.

Marsha Norman, winner of the Pulitzer Prize ('night, Mather) and Tony Award (The Secret Garden) unveils her newest work, Sarah and Abraham, February 1 to 23. This backstage comedy-drama parallels the lives of the biblical characters, Sarah, Abraham and Hagar, with real-life theatre artists trapped in the crosscurrents of romantic intrigue.

Other Peaple's Maney, Jerry Sterner's funny, suspenseful and devastating play, shadows Wall Street — where money is the ultimate seduction and a favorite pastime. Weny Liscow will direct this long running Off-Broadway hit, which plays February 29 to March 22.

The season will end on a musical high note with the premiere of The Prince and The Pauper by Marc Elliot, Richard Holland and Judd Woldin. Mark Twain's beloved fairy tale as a musical will run April 3 to 26.

Subscriptions to George Street Playhouse's 1991-92 season range from $182 to $112 with discounts available for students and senior citizens. For further information, call (908) 246-7717.

Casting Call Announced For Musical Comedy

The Franklin Villagers Barn Theatre will hold open auditions for the musical comedy Me and My Girl on Wednesday, September 11 from 7 to 10 and Sunday, September 15, from 1 to 5. Information on auditions may be obtained by calling the theatre at (908) 873-2710.

and lyrics by L. Arthur Rose and Douglas Furber and music by Noel Gay. Best known for the song "The Lambeth Walk," this musical will run weekends from November 8 through December 15.

Director/choreographer Susie Speidel is seeking a cast of 14 men and 11 women to play a variety of parts. All must sing, dance and act. Those wishing to audition should prepare a song, not from the show, that shows vocal range and comic ability and should come prepared to dance. Auditions are by open call, not by appointment.

Singers are also needed for the ensemble, consisting of eight men and eight women who play a variety of roles ranging from Cockney street performers to British nobles. All must be strong singers as well as versatile comic actors.

Me and My Girl is the rags-to-riches story of a Cockney laborer named Bill Snibson who is discovered to be the rightful heir to Hereford Hall. In this Cinderella tale set against the strict rules of the British class system in the 1930s, Bill's newfound family of British nobility is determined to make him over into a proper gentleman. However, Bill is resolved to be true to his roots, his part of town — Lambeth, and to his girl — Sally.

The Franklin Villagers Barn Theatre is located in the Franklin Township municipal complex at 475 DeMott Lane (between Eastoo Avenue and Amwell Road) in the Somerset section of Franklin Township.

Contemporary Dance Focus of Rutgers' Series

Subscriptions are available for the six events of the 1991-92 DancePlus series sponsored by Rutgers' Mason Gross School of the Arts.

The series will open Thursday, October 17, with Nina Martin/Performance in the Loree Dance Theater, Lipman Drive, on the Douglass College campus. The dance concert features Small Wonders, which blends humor and pathos in its use of golf as a metaphor for life in the United States.

The second event will feature works choreographed by Mason Gross faculty members Don Redlich to William Walton's Facade with chamber orchestra conducted by William Berz, and by Paulette Sears to Nicolas Roussakis' Afternoon. The program, which also features works by guest choreographers Amy Pivar and Catherine Hondorp, will take place at 8 p.m. November 21, 22 and 23 in Nicholas Music Center of the Rutgers Arts Center, George Street at Route 18, New Brunswick.

The innovative Paula Josa-Jones Performance Works will appear Thursday, February 13, at 8 p.m. in the Loree Dance Theater in a work titled White Dream, Wild Moon that draws images from pagan women's rites and contemporary dreams.

Series tickets cost $54. Discounts are available for people 63 years and older and Rutgers faculty, staff and students. For information or to charge tickets by phone, call the Rutgers Arts Ticket Office, (908) 932-7511.

MUSIC

Evening of Folk Music At Horizons Coffee House

Horizons Coffee House will present an evening of folk music on Friday at the Six Mile Run Reformed Church on Route 27 in Franklin Park, beginning at 8.

This show, which begins Horizons' second season, will feature The Marys. The Marys are Don Brody and Ann Walsh, a duo from the Hoboken pop scene. Their songs, "The Day Roy Orbison Died" and "Hey Maryann" are a mainstay of numerous radio programs. Harris Goodman, who has recently completed his debut album, Sending and Receiving, will share his many musical styles as the special guest.

Horizons Coffee House is an informal place to hear good folk music. Coffee, tea and light refreshments are always available. People of all ages gather at Horizons, often singing along with the performers.

Six Mile Run Reformed Church is continuing its cosponsorship of the Coffee House. Horizons asks the audience to bring along some nonperishable food to be given to the Franklin Township Food Bank. In recognition of a donation, Horizons will reduce the admission price from $6 to $5.

For more information and to volunteer to help run the shows, call (908) 821-1324.

Young String Players Are Invited to Audition

Auditions for string players will be held the week of September 15 for the 1991-92 season of the Greater Princeton Youth Orchestra's String Preparatory Orchestra. There are openings for qualified string players in elementary and junior high school.

Violin, viola, cello and bass students may call for an audition appointment. Some later auditions may be scheduled if openings remain. Auditions for wind, brass and percussion players for the new elementary and junior high wind division will be held in early October.

The String Preparatory Orchestra helps students to move on to the Greater Princeton Youth Orchestra, a high school symphony orchestra. For more information and an audition appointment, call Hedy West, parent manager, at 497-1639.

Openings for Singers

Mostly a Cappella, a choral ensemble based in Hopewell, has openings for singers in all voices. The group rehearses weekly in Hopewell and performs several times a year in the Mercer and Bucks county areas.

Mostly a Cappella performs a wide range of a cappella music, including motets, madrigals, spirituals, jazz and modern works.

Singers should have a good sense of pitch and rhythm and some sight-reading ability. Auditions may be arranged by calling the director, Norm Hurst, at 466-9465.

To all qualified choral singers in the Princeton area:

Allow me to extend a most cordial invitation to audition for the Princeton University Chapel Choir or the Princeton University Glee Club during the upcoming audition period in September. Both groups welcome the musical and pereonal diversity brought about by community members sharing the great music that we experience. The Chapel Choir is a particularly able group of salaried singers that furnishes the music for the Sunday morning services in the Univereity Chapel, often of the scope of a Mozart missa brevis or a Bach cantata. The Glee Club confines itself to concerts, both here and out of town (including annual concerts with the Harvard and Yale Glee Clubs), and sings a repertoire of comparable quality. For those with the ability and the time, membership in either group can be extremely rewarding.

There is, however, another possibility for performance with the two groups. For the past several years, a group of excellent singere from the community has joined forces with us to enlarge and enhance the chorus for such works as the Berlioz "Requiem," the Brahms "Triumphlied," the Beethoven "Missa solemnis," and this last season the Brahms "Requiem." We have all been very pleased with the result, and consequently I am renewing the invitation to audition not only for the Chapel Choir and Glee Club, but for those with less time, participation in the large works of the season: February 28 and 29 (Stravinsky: Symphony of Psalms, Schoenberg: Friede auf Erden, Bartók: Cantata Profana), and April 10 and 11 (Verdi: Requiem). Theee will all be performed in Richardson Auditorium with soloists (drawn from the choruses where possible) and orchestra. In addition, the Choir will perform the Schuetz: Christmas Story for Christmas Vespers on December 15, and the Haydn: Creation for the annual Milbank concert on April 26. Let me add that there are also excellent opportunities for accompanists and rehearsal assistants.

This forthcoming season will be my last with theee splendid organizations, and I wish to leave the concept of community participation in an extremely healthy state! If any part of the foregoing interests you, please phone 268-3048 at your earliest opportunity. Any questions you may have will be answered, and the possibility of an audition time will be explored. Auditions will begin shortly after labor Day and continue through the middle of September, but appointments will be set up starting immediately.

Sincerely yours,

Walter Nollner

Democrats Host Barbecue

Princeton Community Democratic Organization, in conjunction with the Democratic Clubs of Lawrenceville and West Windsor, will host a free barbecue fall campaign kick-off at Squatter's Grove, off Quaker Road between Route 1 and Mercer Road, on Saturday, from 4 to 7 p.m.

The barbecue is open to the public, and the organizers, Carmen Caneda and Liz Boyd, hope to attract new members to the area Democratic clubs.

The co-hosts for the event will be the Princeton Democratic candidates for Borough Mayor, Borough Council and Township Committee, and Democratic County and State legislative candidates.

For further information, call Ms. Caneda at 683-1243 or Ms. Boyd at 924-4216.

ART

Studio Space Available At Artworks in Trenton

Artworks is currently accepting applications for studio space in its Trenton facility. The 375-square-foot studios feature painted cement floors and sheetrock walls. The entire Artworks facility is 8000 square feet and is an open-format design.

Spaces are available for six months or one year and rent for $200 a month, which includes heat and electricity.

Artists will have 24-hour access to the studio. They have access to exhibition space on the exterior wall of the studio and use of classroom equipment during open studio hours. Accepted artists will be asked to participate in the life of the Artworks community by having the studio open for the annual open house and by being available for a planned studio tour.

For more information, call 394-9436.

THE PRESENT DAY CLUB will present work of Carol Sanzalone in an exhibit at 72 Stockton Street from Septamber 5 through Octobar 31. Influenced by the impressionists and the way light effects color, the artist's work will include watercolors, oils, and silkscreen prints. The exhibit may be seen Monday through Friday from 9 to 5.

Art Show and Auction Set by Franklin Villagers

The Franklin Villagers Barn Theatre will sponsor an art show and auction presented by the Heisman Fine Arts Gallery on Saturday, September 14.

Proceeds will benefit the theatre. Tickets are $5 each which includes complimentary finger foods, desserts and beverages. Door prizes will also be awarded. Preview of the art will start at 6:30 and will continue until the professional auctioneer starts the proceedings at 8.

More than 120 pieces of art will be auctioned at starting bids 15 to 50 percent below gallery prices. Art works will include original paintings, enamels, sculptures, signed numbered prints, and lithographs. Starting bids range from $35 to $2,000 with approximately 75 percent of the art work starting at under $100. Prices include custom framing and matting.

The art show and auction is being organized by John DeMarco and Jeffrey Babey. Mr. DeMarco is best known for his protrayal of Herbie in the Villagers' production of Gypsy last summer. Mr. Babey was seen as the First Comic in last season's Sugor Bobies.

For further information or reservabons, call the theatre at (908) 873-2710.

Exhibits

The Gallery at Bristol-Myers Squibb will exhibit the work of 20 New Jersey high school students who have completed a three-week art workshop at Mercer County Community College. For the fourth consecutive summer, Bristol-Myers Squibb has sponsored courses in figure drawing, taught by Mel Leipzig, and computer art, taught by Frank Rivera. The students, their family and friends, as well as the public, are invited to an opening reception on Wednesday, September 11, from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.

The exhibition will be on view through October 2, in conjunction with the 18th annual employee art and crafts exhibition also on view in the gallery.

The gallery is located in the Bristol-Myers Squibb Pharmaceutical Group Headquarters on Route 206, three miles south of Princeton. It is open to the public at no charge.

The New Jersey State Museum has reinstalled selected pieces from its collection of contemporary art. The pieces are abstract and figurative works from the 1950s to the present and will be displayed in the second and third floor fine arts galleries for an extended period of time.

The exhibit includes a lyrical painting by second-generation abstractionist, Ezio Martinelli, nonfigurative paintings by Cleve Gray, Stanley Boxer's surface-animated canvas, Larry River's Foce, Fairfield Porter's sundrenched Lizzie and Philip Pearlstien's Women in Hammock. Other significant paintings on view are Milton Avery's Conversation by the Mountain, and Neil Williver's Final Venus, a quintessentially American statement on nature.

Among the sculptures are Deborah Butterfield's horse, Adan, Mary Franks' Persephone, and Louise Nevelson's Dreamwall.

Also on exhibition in one of the third floor galleries are six prints, all 1990 gifts of the Rutgers Center for Innovative Printmaking.

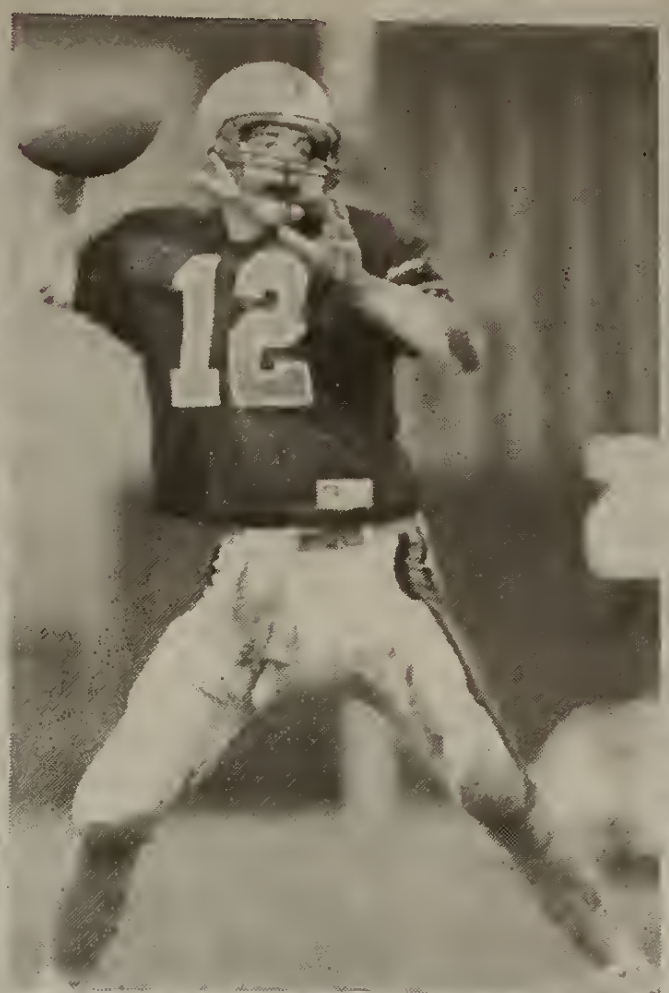
Tiger Coaches Have Myriad of Personnel Decisions to Make In 3 Weeks to Come Up with 22 Starters for Opening Game

SPORTS

So much to do in so little time.

Approximately 110 candidates from nearby West Windsor Townsbip to Anchorage, Alaska reported to Princeton University's preseason football camp last weekend, and the grueling two-a-day practices have begun. Head coach Steve Tosches and his assistants will be assessing the varying abilities of everyone from sophomore fullback Eric Arnault to junior outside linebacker Joel Zayachek.

In three weeks time, they will have had to make decisions on whom to cut and whom to keep, starters, back-ups, the offensive plays and defensive alignments, all based on what they see in workouts and scrimmages. Obviously all plans can be rethought and changed as the season progresses, but the ability to make the correct personnel decisions early can be crucial to a successful start. And a team that finished 3-7 a year ago needs just that to avoid another down year.



THE HEIR APPARENT: Senior Chad Roghair has the inside track to the starting quarterback's job for the Princeton University football team.

Many strengths and weaknesses are already known, but every fall has a set of different questions to be solved, and this one is no different. A new starting quarterback must be found, and the sooner he is, the faster the offense will develop.

Which of two good running backs will see action first, or will they be used together? There are plenty of receivers; but which ones will be able to improve on a subpar performance in this area last year? On defense, the secondary is wide open, and several candidates will need to be moved around to come up with the best two at cornerback and at safety.

At the beginning of camp, the depth chart on a position-by-position basis looked something like this:

Quarterback: A successor to two-year starter Joel Sharp must be found, and senior Chad Roghair has the inside track. Roghair is big, 6'5, 220, but has seen little action in the back-up role the past two years. Junior Peter Hess, the leading passer on the 1989 freshman team, is first in line if Roghair falters in pre-season. "Chad has waited his time, and it appears he's the incumbent," Tosches says. "But if he leaves the door open, Hess has the ability to take the job. I really think it's going to be a pretty good battle."

Halfback: Not to be overshadowed by the arrival of heralded freshman Keith Elias, is the fine running of junior Erick Hamilton, who led the team in rushing (138 carries for 699 yards) as a sophomore. Obviously, both will see plenty of playing time, but Tosches is hoping they will both push and challenge each other. And naturally, he will design plays to have them both on the field at the same time.

Fullback: Chris Hallihan has graduated, leaving the Tigers with perhaps their biggest hole to fill, or in Tosches' words "the candidates here are so unproven, it's ridiculous." Senior Josh Rudolph rushed just seven times for 15 yards last fall, and junior Doug Massick never touched the ball at all. One preseason rumor had Hamilton putting on enough weight (he's listed now at 200 pounds) to make the switch to fullback.

Wide Receiver: This is another spot that concerns Tosches. "Last year our feeling was the receivers were going to be talented, but in the end this wasn't the case. We will need more production from them this season." The two top pass catchers, senior Mark Rodgers and junior Michael Lerch, are back. Between them they had 41 receptions for 618 yards. Lerch, the fastest player on the team, led the Tigers in kick-off returns and all-purpose yardage in his first season. Four more experienced players also return: seniors Sean Edwards, Matt Tarkenton and Mike Wilson and junior Steve Tufillaro. Up from the freshman team is all-purpose threat Brian Mangene, who led his team in receiving, punt and kickoff returns.

Tight End: Both Marin Gjaja, the team's second leading receiver, and his backup Todd Fredericks have graduated, leaving a wide-open battle for this position. Senior Mike McCloskey, junior Chris Beiswinger and sophomore Chris Dickinson will all challenge for the starting job. McCloskey and Beiswinger have had experience as blockers, rather than pass catchers; Dickinson was the second-leading receiver for the freshmen.

Offensive Line: Three starters out of five return to this all-important unit, which will be responsible for opening holes for Hamilton and Elias. Junior tackle Chris Theiss had a good sophomore year, and could win all-Ivy recognition this fall. Junior Jeff Hiller, who saw limited action as a sophomore, is the front runner for the other tackle position. At guard, senior Anthony Cicia will return on the left side, and senior Todd Crockett will take over on the right. Crockett started at center last season. His move will be made possible by the return of senior Dave Bocian. A promising player as a junior, Bocian's season ended with a broken ankle in the Colgate game. Also back is senior Kevin Burden, who started at center a year ago, giving Tosches several options.

Defensive Line: Three of the four down-linemen positions will be filled by senior starters led by Leon Newsome. Tosches is hoping for a banner year from his big, 6-5, 270 pound defensive end, who registered 47 tackles, and numerous tackles for a loss, sacks and fumble recoveries a year ago. Mark Johnson, 6-4, 225, split time with Steve Schildt in 1990 at one of the tackle spots, and seems ready for full-time duty now. Tom Ryan, 6-2, 230, brings a full season of experience to the other tackle spot. Junior Steve Schurr, 6-2, 225, who played behind Renard Charity, senior Jonas Sheehan and junior David Williams, will contend for the other defensive end position. There is plenty of depth at defensive tackle with Greg Cavaleri and Mike Zampardi, both returning. A talented sophomore, Reggie Harris, the Pink Baker award winner as a freshman, will push the upperclassmen for starting time, as will Brian Kazan, another strong sophomore.

Linebackers: The strongest unit on the team is the linebacking corps, which did not lose anyone to graduation. Senior captain Jim Freeman, a starter as a sophomore, can do everything when he's healthy. Unfortunately, he has been

PHS Football Now Has to Try and Match Last Year's Success

One of the more difficult things in sports for a team and a coach to accomplish is to repeat a fine season. Repeating is a slippery slope.

Last year, Keith Wadsworth, in his first year as a head coach of any sport, together with an equally untested staff, took a floundering Princeton High football program that had deteriorated to the point there were those who felt the sport would die here, and turned it into a winner. The Little Tigers surprised by winning their first five games and later qualifying for the Central Jersey state tournament, finishing with a 6-4 record.

Now that Wadsworth and Princeton High have shown what they can do, the question in the minds of most followers of the Little Tigers is, can they duplicate last year's success?

One could assume that after a year under his belt, Wadsworth would have a little more insight into what to expect this fall but Wadsworth doesn't see it that way. Not at all.

"I don't want to say 'duplicate' — I just want to say I hope we have a good season," said Wadsworth. "Nottingham ... our first game ... they have all their players back. So do McCorristin, Lawrence and Ewing. I just don't know what to expect.

"It's like my first year. I didn't know what to expect then; I've got to do the same this year. I don't know what talent the other teams have. But, I think it's better that way. We just have to go out and play football the best way we can."

As for relative strengths and weaknesses, Wadsworth insists he won't have any firm insight until the first scrimmage. That comes Saturday against South Hunterdon. Another scrimmage is scheduled here the following Saturday at 11 against New Brunswick before the season's opener September 21 against Nottingham.

One known factor: Wadsworth has a bevy of backs with speed to burn. Taron Conover has been timed in 4.4 in the 40. "And that's in high grass," remarked assistant coach Jason Petrone.

He also has one of the bluest of blue chip backs in the County in sophomore Bram Reynolds; the fleet and shifty Nixon Grant, who led the team in scoring with seven TDs last year, and some beefy players on the line like 6-6, 265-pound junior Shane Kinney.

Nor does Wadsworth hesitate to reveal that he intends to stay with his "bread and butter" offense, the Power I. Or that he intends to change his defensive lineup to a 4-4 which he used in the state playoffs against Somerville.

When one of his coaches (he has two new ones and a volunteer this year) demurred and said perhaps he was revealing too much. Wadsworth replied, "I don't care. Let the other teams worry about us."

PHS FOOTBALL CAPTAINS: Two of three captains of the 1991 Princeton High football team are fullback Jamaa Charlesworth (left) and offensive guard John Meslin. Meslin, 5-11, 195 pounds, will also play free safety on defense, and Charlesworth, 5-10, 190 pounds, will also go both ways, as a linebacker on defense.

Who's Who in the Backfield

In the PHS backfield there is, agrees Wadsworth, "lots of speed." PHS lost one outside threat when Silas Massey (five TDs last year) left PHS to attend the Pennington School.

That still leaves a lot. Conover not only has that 4.4 speed but has a great pair of hands, says Wadsworth, and is a breakaway threat on kickoff returns. "The quickest on the team."

Wadsworth feels tailback Nixon Grant is "one of the top five runners in the County." He was second in yardage with 700 plus yards.

James Charlesworth, a backup to fullback Guy Romain last year, is one of three co-captains of the team along with Grant and lineman John Meslin. A punishing runner and ferocious linebacker, Charlesworth, by lifting weights during the summer, now carries 190 pounds on his 5-9 frame. Perhaps more than any other Little Tiger, he fits the description "hard-nosed player."

Against Somerville when he broke loose for 87 yards on one play and caught passes for 50 more, Reynolds gave a glimpse of what lay ahead. Only a sophomore this year, the 6-2, 195-pound Reynolds has been slotted as a wingback by Wadsworth, who adds, "We intend to use him a lot in running but he also has great hands and great size for blocking."

At quarterback is sophomore Brendan Branon, who is taking over for older brother Ryan, who held the position the previous three seasons. In a rare achievement, Branon played on all three football teams last year: freshman, junior varsity and varsity. "He already has good stats," said Wadsworth.

"We're working hard on our passing and the way Brendan looks right now, I'd say he has the potential to become a better player than his brother," Wadsworth predicted.

Marquis Johnson is another one of those sophomore backs (Grant, Conover and Charlesworth are the only seniors) who brings speed and power to the backfield. He is slated to take over Massey's spot. "Great talent, great size for a tailback," reports Wadsworth.

Still another sophomore prospect is Ricky Vernon, whom Wadsworth labels as "an interesting player. A good, hard worker."

Junior Abel Kahn is a backup fullback, has worked hard on the weights, says Wadsworth, and — like the rest of the backs — has great speed. In Kahn's case, 4.6 in the 40.

Summing up, Wadsworth repeated once more, "Lots of speed. Most played varsity last year so they're more experienced, too." But speed alone is not enough. Someone has to open the holes and next week TOWN TOPICS will discuss the candidates for the line.

Ficarro's Wins Playoffs With 2 Wins Over Grove

As it headed south to participate in the United States Slo-Pitch Softball Association Northeast Regional "B" Tournament in Wilmington, N.C. during the Labor Day weekend, the Princeton-based Steve Ficarro Auto Body softball team had to feel pretty good about itself.

In a night in which three games were played in succession, Ficarro's had beaten rival Grove Plumbing two games to one to win the playoff title of the Mercer Women's Softball League. The first two games were decided by one run; the championship game by two.

While it is no stranger to winning (Ficarro's playing as Sweet Jersey Corn fashioned a 56-game winning streak in the early 1980s) manager Bob Smyth's team had to watch Grove Plumbing win the regular league championship again this year as it had the year before. In three regular season games this summer Grove had defeated Ficarro's twice.

The playoff series would also pit the league's two leading pitchers, Cathy Elberson of Grove and Ficarro's Carol Ann Mazzella. The series, agreed Smyth afterward, had certainly lived up to its advance billing. "You won't find three better played games."

Outstanding defensive plays and superb pitching (neither Mazzella nor Elberson issued a walk in all three contests) highlighted the series. In the title game, Grove jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the first inning when it combined some aggressive base-running by Jean Ruppert and Carol Whitehouse, two Ficarro errors and just one base hit. "We got sloppy," admitted Smyth. But Grove could not sustain its advantage. In the bottom of the third, Cee Aerstin singled and came home on a triple by Debbie Smyth. Smyth was something of a white knight. She had to miss the first two games because of a job commitment but arrived in time for the third. Although Smyth died on third, "I think that was the turning point," said her manager-husband later.

In the fifth, with one out, singles by Dee Discavage, Aerstin and Smyth loaded the bases. After Mazzella's sacrifice fly plated the tying run, Cindy Lombardo followed with a soft liner over second that scored two runners and put Ficarro's ahead to stay.

Grove got one run back in the sixth on a pair of hits but Ficarro's added an insurance run in the same inning on singles by Karen Wagner and Doreen Romanchuk and a Grove error.

It was, allowed Smyth, a very satisfying series. "Even though we didn't win the league it was nice to come up against the champion and make a statement. We beat 'em two out of three."

Leave Seven Stranded

Ficarro's won the first game, 3-2, but it was "a lot closer than it could have and should have been," said Smyth. Ficarro's outhit Grove 12-6 but left seven runners stranded. Mazzella retired seven of the last eight batters she faced and a great catch by Cindy Lombardo in left field with two out in the last inning helped preserve the win.

Donna Nicholson batted 3-for-3 for Ficarro's, Romanchuk had two hits and Mazzella helped her cause with two hits. Aerstin drove in two runs, including the winning one with a sacrifice fly.

The second game was scoreless after five innings. In the sixth, Ficarro's went up 1-0 on Carla Brantley's single, a sacrifice fly and Karen Wagner's RBI single. Grove avoided a sweep, however, when it solved Mazzella for four consecutive singles for two runs and a 2-1 victory. Lombardo and Discavage each had two hits in three at bats for Ficarro's.

For the three games, Mazzella surrendered seven runs and 22 hits; Elberson gave up nine runs and 35 hits. "We had 13 more hits; that was the difference," summed up Smyth. As a team, Ficarro's batted .402 compared to .269 for Grove.

In her one-game appearance, Smyth batted 1.000. Nicholson had five hits in nine at bats for a lusty .556 average while Brantley and Aerstin both batted .500. Lombardo and Romanchuk were each 4-for-9 for .444, while Mazzella batted .400.

Defensively, Lombardo had nine put-outs in left field and Romanchuk had an even dozen in left center. Mazzella was equally effective as a performer in the field with one put-out and eight assists. "Anytime a pitcher has an assist, it means she robbed someone up the middle," said Smyth.

The two rivals may not be finished with each other this season. Grove is also making the trip to Wilmington.

Tiger Football

slowed each of the past two seasons by minor nagging injuries. Junior Aaron Harris and senior Ken Sisco are also back. Despite missing two games, Harris was the team's second-leading tackler last year. Sisco had a solid year, rotating with another standout player, Gene DeMorat, for playing time. A pair of juniors, who saw plenty of action on special teams in 1990, Chris Mallette and Rob Dykes, will provide good backup strength.

Defensive Backs: The defensive backfield, hit hard by graduation, has only one returning starter. When he couldn't make it into Pete Carril's line-up, Marvin Williams switched to football, and by mid-season had won a starting job at cornerback. He finished with 42 tackles, two pass breakups, one interception and a fumble recovery. Another returnee, Wade Wilson, is the only other player with experience. Tosches is going to look for the best four athletes, and then fit the pieces together. He'll have plenty of candidates from whom to choose, including seniors Mike DiMarino, Jason Ward, and juniors Brad Reed, Keith Drucker and Rick McBride.

Kicker: The departure of Chris Lutz leaves Tosches looking for both a placekicker and a punter. Junior Jason Scott, who handled the place kicking in one game last year, is most likely to inherit those duties. Another candidate is sophomore Jamie Ertischek, who had a good record with the freshmen. Tosches is hoping that between the two of them both positions will be adequately filled.

Next week: a look at Princeton's opponents.

Harris, retired teacher, Princeton Regional Schools; Jeremiah Ford II, architect, principal in the firm Short & Ford; and Mitch Forest of Forest Jewelers, founding president, Borough Merchants for Princeton.

Ms. Arlett is a former home economics teacher in the Princeton Regional Schools who is making her second try for Borough Council on the Republican ticket. Barbara W. Ms. Freedman says she supports the library remaining in downtown Princeton but adds: "I was not aware of the attack on local governing officials contained in the press release and the charter when I agreed over the telephone to be a part of the group. I do not want to be part of a group that is attacking local government in a situation where the residents are of two minds as to where the library should be located, and the governing officials are trying to decide the best course."

Disagreement on Study

Mr. Afran is quoted in the press release as saying: "The appalling thing to watch is that the politician mentality has made itself all the way down to local government where spending money on studies for political expediency is part of the job. Instead of saving precious tax dollars, our local politicians are intent on spending $20,000 for more study."

Ms. Freedman said she thinks it is proper that the dual study be done because she feels "it is the only way to get forward motion on the library expansion."

To this reporter, Mr. Afran stressed the importance of a library to the cultural center of a town. Although the library could function very well in Epstein's, he says, the Shopping Center is not the cultural center of town.

"People moved here — Township as well as Borough residents — because Princeton, unlike most towns, has a cultural center," Mr. Afran said. "The library is a part of that cultural center and should remain a part."

He also feels that only a few dozen Township residents are concerned with the parking problems associated with the library, and that parking itself should not be an issue. He says that the downtown merchants support the library remaining downtown and thinks that they would be willing to forego the 44 parking spaces that would be pre-empted by the library expansion to keep the library downtown.

OBITUARIES

Alec P. Tomalin, 24, died August 31 at his home in Plainsboro.

Born in Plainfield, Mr. Tomalin lived in Metuchen for six years before moving to Princeton with his family. He recently moved to Plainsboro and was employed at McGraw Hill Inc. as a warehouseman for the past two years. He attended the Newgrange School in Trenton and graduated from Princeton High School, Class of 1988.

Surviving are his parents, Michael A. and Sharon N. Tomalin of Princeton; a brother, Dan L. Tomalin of Trenton; a sister, Anne Tomalin Stitt of Atlanta; and many aunts, uncles and cousins.

A memorial service will be held Thursday at 10 at Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church, 124 Witherspoon Street, the Rev. Steven Olmstead officiating. Private burial will be in Princeton Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the Newgrange School, 52 Lafayette Avenue, Trenton 08610.

John C. "Skip" Fambro, 59, died August 30 at Princeton Medical Center.

Born in the Bronx, N.Y., Mr. Fambro had lived in Princeton since 1960. He was employed by Princeton Laboratories and recently retired from the Princeton Public Library after 17 years of service. He was a member and secretary of the original Hit & Miss Rod and Gun Club and a member of Teague-Hinds Softball Team.

Son of Ann Craig Fambro of Princeton and the late Charles A. Fambro, he is survived by his wife, Gloria Summers Fambro; a daughter, Crystal Cruz of New York City; a son, Craig Fambro of New York City; a sister, Jacquelyn Dace of Yonkers, N.Y.; a stepdaughter, Robin Smith of Trenton; a stepson, Lester Bethea of Baltimore; a goddaughter, Gail Everett of Princeton; and several nieces and nephews.

The service will be held Thursday at 1 at Mount Pisgah A.M.E. Church, Witherspoon and McLean Streets, the Rev. Jonathan Wade, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Princeton Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the Building Fund of Mount Pisgah A.M.E. Church, 170 Witherspoon Street, Princeton 08540.

Elwood R. Barnhart, 73, of Washington Crossing, Hopewell Township, died August 31 at Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Titusville, Mr. Barnhart was a lifelong Hopewell Township resident. He was retired from Melcor Corp. of Trenton, where he was an engineer supervisor. A Navy veteran of World War II, he served in the Pacific and received an honorable discharge in 1945.

He was founder and life member of the Union Fire company, Titusville, and a founder and member of the Hopewell Township Police Department. He was a member of the N.J. State Firemen's Association, the Mercer County Firemen's Association, the Pleasant Valley Vigilant Association and was an active umpire in Hopewell Township Little League and Babe Ruth League.

He was also a member of the AARP, Cyrus Lodge No. 148 F&AM, Pennington, and the Titusville Methodist Church.

Surviving are his wife, Eleanor Orban Barnhart; a son and daughter-in-law, Jeffrey and Susan Barnhart of Robbinsville; five brothers, William Barnhart of Jamesburg, Kenneth Barnhart of Vincentown, Austin, Robert and Raymond Barnhart, all of Titusville; five sisters, Velva Pelly of Vincentown, Evelyn Bradley, Mildred Most and Louise Barnhart, all of Margate, Fla., and Claire Smith of West Virginia; and several nieces and nephews.

The service will be held Thursday at 11 at Cromwell Funeral Home, 71 East Prospect Street, Hopewell, the Rev. John Wheatly officiating. Burial will be in Harbourton Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to the Union Fire and Rescue Squad, Titusville.

Oliver F. "Zuke" Seruby, 89, of Crusher Road, Hopewell, died August 30 at home.

Born in Pennington, Mr. Seruby was a lifelong resident of Pennington and Hopewell. He was retired from the state Department of Labor and Industry. He was a graduate of Hopewell High School and attended Rider College, and he played on the baseball teams of both schools. He also played for several area semi-pro baseball teams.

He was a member of Bethel AME Church in Pennington, where he served as a trustee and a former chairman of the building and maintenance department. Mr. Seruby had also served on the Hopewell Township Zoning Board.

Husband of the late Margaret Cain Seruby, he is survived by a daughter and son-in-law, Lois and Lonnie Geter of Trenton; a sister, Estelle Cane of Trenton; two grandsons, Dr. Kirk Geter of Mitchelville, Md., and Todd Geter of Trenton; a granddaughter, Beth Geter of Trenton; and several nieces and nephews.

The service will be held this Wednesday, September 4, at 8 p.m. at Bethel AME Church, South Main Street, Pennington, with the Rev. Tom Hills, pastor, officiating. Burial will be Thursday at 9:30 in Stoutsberg Cemetery, Hopewell Township. Calling hours are Wednesday from 6 until time of service at the church.

A Water Ceremony At Unitarian Church

Samples of water from Kenya to Kitty Hawk to Kansas and to Kingston will come together Sunday at the opening service of the new church year at the Unitarian Church.

Initiated by its new minister, Dr. Paul S. Johnson, who takes the pulpit of the church for the first time that day, the water ceremony evokes water as the most fundamental constituent of human life and as a symbol of the world need for environmental concern.

The 400 members and friends of the Unitarian congregation were asked to gather samples of water during their summer study or vacation travels. Under the guidance of the new minister, each person will add his or her sample to a common vessel and describe the place and circumstance of its collection. After the service, the combined waters from around the globe will be spread across the grounds of the church at its site on the corner of Route 206 and Cherry Hill Road.

Dr. Johnson served the Unitarian Universalist Church of Silver Spring, Md., before agreeing last spring to move to the Princeton church. He and his wife, Carol Rowan, and their two young children will live on Ewing Street.

Dr. Johnson will be formally installed in the new ministry in November. The Minnesota native is the fourth minister to serve the Unitarian Church of Princeton since its founding in 1949. He succeeds the Rev. Edward Frost, who was minister from 1975 to 1989, when he moved to one of the largest churches in the Unitarian-Universalist denomination in Atlanta.

First Baptist Pastor To Be Feted by Church

The First Baptist Church of Princeton will celebrate the fifth anniversary of its pastor, the Rev. Michael C.R. Nabors, from October 7 to 13.

The plans call for several evenings of recognition which include worship services led by Rev. Nabors' colleagues in the clergy. The Rev. S. Howard Woodsom, Dr. Samuel Proctor and The Rev. "Buster" Soaries are among those who will honor him during the week. There will be a banquet on Saturday, October 12, at the Nassau Inn, and the week will culminate with a special worship service at 11 a.m. on Sunday, October 13.

More information concerning the events may be obtained by calling 924-0877.

Bulletin Notes

The Lutheran Church of The Messiah will return to its regular worship time of 10:30 a.m. on Sunday.

Sunday school and Bible classes begin at 9. The high school Bible class meets at the pastor's home, and classes for kindergarten through the eighth grade meet in the fellowship area of the church. The Sunday morning adult class will begin a new study series centered around Yeshua, a 10-part video production by the Lutheran Laymen's League featuring the life of Jesus Christ set in the Holy Land. The class will meet in the lounge of the new parish building.

There will be an open house from 2 to 6 at the pastor's home on Sunday. The church has a new handicapped ramp for easy access. Nursery service is provided during morning worship. For more information, call Pastor Goerss at 924-3642.

Bible Study Fellowship International, an interdenominational bible study for women, announces that its fall study will be the minor prophets. Introduction classes for new members will be held on Thursday, September 12 and 19, at 9:10 at the facilities of All Saints' Church. For more information call 924-4711 or (215) 794-0492.

Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church will hold a Volunteer Fair Sunday, September 15, from 1:30 to 3:30. There will be representatives from several human services organizations present to inform, educate and recruit. The fair is sponsored by the Church and Society Committee of Witherspoon Church.

Temple Micah, Reform Congregation in Lawrenceville, is holding registration for its fall Religious School. Subjects include the bible, Jewish history, holidays, ethics and the Hebrew language. Classes start this month and are held on Wednesdays from 5 to 6:30 at the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church.

For additional information call Joan Gottfried evenings at 921-6708, or call Temple Micah information service at 921-1128.

Hebrew school at the Jewish Community Center of Belle Mead begins on Wednesday, September 11, for grades 5 through 7, and Sunday, September 15, for grades K-6. On Sunday, September 15, there will be a school orientation for both students and parents from 9:30 to 10:30, with a class meeting following until 11:30. Parents are urged to attend both sessions.

Pax Christi of Mercer County will open the year with a discussion of The Best Kept Secrets of Catholic Social Teaching led by Father Vincent Gartland, chaplain at Rider College. The meeting will be held Tuesday at 8 at Emmaus House, 2116 Lawrenceville Road. The Rev. Patrick Connor will conduct the prayer service.

NEW LISTING

In the quiet seclusion of Princeton's Laurel Circle, a few homes of varied architecture share the shaded cul-de-sac. This one is unique — it is brick and Pearson built which proclaim its solid construction. The hall opens to a large living room sunlit by many windows. The fireplace is attractive and open shelves offer space for books or the displaying of one's treasures. The dining room overlooks the secluded yard and the kitchen is efficient. On a lower level the family room, with adjoining powder room, has a door to a flagstone terrace near a majestic oak tree. Upstairs — the master bedroom is luxurious with a tiled bath. Two other bedrooms — both spacious and dormered — share a bath. Centrally air conditioned. A delightful home that adapts to a family of all ages. $314,500

GREAT ESTATES

SOME REALTORS BRING BUYERS FROM AROUND THE CORNER...

We Bring Buyers From Around The World.

The more buyers who see your home, the greater your chances of selling it at the price you want. While all Realtors say they recognize that, not all of them are capable of doing something about it.

We are. We're supported by 41,000 active sales agents working in 1,900 offices throughout North America. And while many real estate offices have only loose affiliation with independent relocation companies, we're backed by two company-owned relocation companies. They're our link to buyers all over the world.

So if you're thinking of selling your home and want more buyers, call us at the number below. Our office is in Princeton, but we'll go to the end of the earth for you.

A Princeton Company... And More.

19 Winfield Drive

"Winfield" — An exclusive enclave of some of western Princeton's finest homes and the site of this handsome brick Georgian Colonial. Designed by Thompson and built by Hunt and Augustine, it has assured quality construction and custom details. On a gentle hill a circular drive leads to the sheltered doorway. The two story foyer is charming with its marble floor and graceful stairway. The elegant step-down living room with wet bar is enhanced by an attractive fireplace, tall windows, dentil moulding and 2 French doors to a walled flagstone terrace. The library is graced by handsome panelling. The formal dining room is spacious. Adjoining the modern kitchen is a windowed breakfast room. A room with full bath adapts for guests, an au pair or family use. Upstairs — a luxurious master bedroom with dressing room and bath, four family bedrooms and 2 baths. The lower level is panelled for recreation or hobbies. Beautiful grounds surround the sparkling Master pool. An opportunity to enjoy a truly gracious life style. $960,000
